Well its a mystery to me, we have agreed Witch we had agreed. And you think you have to want more then you need. Till you have it all you wont be free.
                                  С
, you crazy breed
                                    Αm
I hope youre not lonely without me
                                                  G
When you want more then you have,
                                                   С
You think you need. And when you think more
Then you want youre thought will began to bleed.
I think I need to find a bigger place, cause when you have more then you think you need more space

, you crazy breed
                                         Am
I hope youre not lonely without me
, crazy indeed
                                          Am
Hope youre not lonely without me
SOLO
Αm
                                                Am
Is dorms thinking more less less is more
                                                           G
But if less is more, how you keeping score?
                                                                      Am
Means for every point you make youre level drop Kinda like a stunt from the top. You cant do that
, youre a crazy breed
